Subject: Fwd: Request from Faculty Grievance Panel

Dear Kasturi,

[REDACTED], chair of the panel reviewing your grievance, has communicated that it is not possible for them to complete their work before the agreed upon date of January 31, 2025. If you have further questions, you should direct them to Professor [REDACTED].

Hi Kasturi,

I will check with the panel chair. I have already informed them that you accepted the extension. However, it is your decision.

Maura,

What alternatives are there to extending the faculty grievance deadline to January 31, 2025. You made it seem like there was no option except to extend, but is it possible to have a different committee member put on the committee and complete it in the time allotted by the Academic Articles? I'm concerned that delay on this will materially impact the steps the Committee or President can take to remedy the situation if they find in my favor at the committee level or on appeal, given the imminent closure of my lab.

Dear Kasturi,

I believe that the principal reason is that one of the panel members has some medical issues and is unable to meet for a couple of weeks.

Dear Kasturi,

I am just following up on this email from last week. Are you agreeable to a submission date of January 31, 2025 for the grievance panel's report?

Thanks,

Maura

Dear Kasturi,

Due to circumstances beyond their control, the faculty panel reviewing your grievance petition anticipates needing more than the required 60 days for submission of their report. Are you agreeable to a submission date of January 31, 2024?

Thanks for considering this request,

Maura
